CAB Officials Declines To Confirm Story

PITTSBURGH, April 3 (AP)—An official of the Civil Aeronautics Board declined to confirm or deny today a published report that the "left engine failed after take-off" on a Trans-World airliner that crashed Sunday night with the loss of 22 lives.

"I have no comment on the report," said Joseph O. Fluet, chief investigator for the CAB in New York who is heading the probe of the crash at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

Said Fluet: "It is not our policy to reveal our findings prior to a public hearing. I personally interviewed the pilot and have not released any information."

Asked by a newsman if he would confirm or deny the published report, Fluet asserted: "I have no comment."

Story
The published report said the CAB investigation showed the left engine of the twin-engine Martin 404 airliners was not delivering any power.

It said the pilot, Capt. Raymond F. McQuade, made the statement to CAB officials from his bed at Sewickley Valley Hospital where he was reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Capt. McQuade, 33, of Red Bank, N.J., was not available for comment.

Earlier, Fluet said he could not reveal McQuade's version of the crash until a formal CAB hearing—probably to be held in Pittsburgh within six weeks.

And in Washington, a spokesman for the CAB said it did not know of any local published report and in any event wouldn't have comment until its investigation is completed and a report compiled.

A TWA spokesman said, "We haven't been told a thing." Leonard F. Koster, district sales manager for TWA, added there have been no formal or informal depositions made by the surviving captain "as far as we know."

Copilot Harlan Jespersen, who also survived the crash, along with McQuade and 12 others, was still in critical condition and could not be questioned.

Opening Date Set

HARRISBURG, April 3 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today fixed May 25 for the formal opening of the Delaware River bridge linking the Pennsylvania and New Jersey toll roads.

Crawn Wins Edison Award Citation

PAUL M. CRAWN, Shawnee, yesterday was presented with an Edison Award special citation for his "outstanding contribution in rescuing several hundred people during last August's flood."

Crawn aided the rescue by operating an amateur radio network control station continuously for 80 hours without sleep or relief according to the judges.

R. P. Fisher, district sales manager for the General Electric Tube Department, presented the award to Crawn yesterday.

According to the spokesman for the awards: "Crawn later helped establish radio networks by using equipment borrowed from the Army, during the disastrous flood last August. Paul was one of eight 'special citation' winners throughout the United States who had been nominated by friends and associates for his self-sacrifice and ingenuity in employing amateur radio in the public interest."

Father
Crawn—whose father, Paul Crawn Sr., is Civil Defense coordinator here—has been a ham radio operator for years.

Fire-Proofed
The whole White House was fire-proofed in the 1949-52 renovation. There was a damaging fire in the west wing during the Hoover administration.

Hagerty said neither President nor Mrs. Eisenhower knew about today's blaze until it was long over, when he informed them. The President was in his office in the west wing at the hour of the Red Room incident.

Baughman said about the only information questioners were able to obtain from the woman was a statement that she set the fires and that she is a native of Hagerstown, Md., and was born May 14, 1902.

MIAMI, Fla., April 3 (AP)—A double deck cruise boat loaded with 56 excursionists rolled on its side while making a sharp turn today, dumping nine persons into the shallow water of Biscayne Bay a short distance offshore before it came back to an even keel.

Everyone was rescued but five men and a woman were admitted to a hospital for treatment of shock and exposure.

Tobyhanna Probe May Begin
SCRANTON, Pa., April 3 (AP)—The federal grand jury may start its investigation of alleged irregularities in connection with the $3 million dollar U.S. Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna tomorrow.

John P. Gilboy Jr., head of a local wholesale hardware firm who will be one of the government's "key witnesses," appeared at the Federal Building yesterday and spent some time with special Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Gilboy formerly was a partner in the engineering firm of Gilboy, O'Malley and Stopper, which held several contracts at the signal depot.

Group Seeks Appropriation Of $500,000

HARRISBURG, April 3—A new attempt to gain legislative approval for a $500,000 appropriation to purchase flood-damaged property around Bushkill was made today by the Delaware River Water Supply Commission.

The group decided to seek an amendment to the flood relief act, approved last Fall, in the hopes of making the funds available. The decision was reached after it was disclosed that the Senate Appropriations Committee had refused to act on a $500,000 appropriation bill passed by the House.

The properties would be purchased by the Department of Forests and Waters and held for potential public use. They would be in the vicinity of the proposed Wallpack Bend and Tock's Island reservoirs, both under consideration as possible flood control projects.

Tentative Date
The commission set April 20 as the tentative date for a public hearing in the Court House in Stroudsburg. Anyone affected in any way by the Wallpack or Tock's Island dams will be given an opportunity to testify, according to Rep. Van D. Yetter (D-Monroe), commission vice chairman.

Yetter said the state can't go ahead with either project until Army Corps of Engineers complete their study of the possibility and feasibility of the Tock's Island reservoir. It is expected to be finished before the next General Assembly convenes in January, 1957.

Sen. Joseph Yosko, commission chairman, said that if the Tock's Island site is selected for the reservoir, it would mean an amendment will be needed to the law authorizing the compact between the governments of the United States, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. As it now stands, the law authorizes the construction of a dam at Wallpack Bend.

The amended compact would have to be approved by the General Assembly and Congress. The two states hope to obtain federal aid to construct the dam.

Besides Yosko and Yetter, the following commission members attended today's session: Rep. Norman Wood, Lancaster; Secretary of Forests and Waters Maurice Goddard; Francis Pitkin, representing the Commerce Department and Incolod and Rep. James Gaffney, Easton.

Record
A lusty snow and sleet storm piled up drifts five feet high in the Central and Northern Plains, isolating numerous communities.

Parts of the Midwest broiled in a freak heat wave. Chicago set a record for the second successive day when the mercury bounced to 81 degrees at 2 p.m. This topped the old record for the date, set in 1921, by 4.4 degrees.

A vigorous storm center that moved northward through the Central Plains from the southern Rockies triggered the snow, sleet and wind storms.

The storm hit Nebraska and central South Dakota with the full fury of winter.

The north central Nebraska community of Valentine was cut off from outside communication, except by radio, after winds of 60 to 70 m.p.h. felled 70 ice-laden power poles.

U.S. Proposes New Disarmament Plan For World
LONDON, April 3 (AP)—The United States today proposed a new world disarmament plan, including limitations on atomic and hydrogen weapons.

It calls for a world nuclear census and partial nuclear disarmament once cutbacks in conventional arms and military spending get under way.

The plan was presented by U. S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen at a meeting of the five-power subcommittee of the U. N. Disarmament Commission. It was said to have sparked a lively discussion by the other delegates. All asked for time to study it.

East Borough Begins New System Of Tickets

CHIEF BURGESS Jesse S. Flory of East Stroudsburg last night made the disclosure that—for a time—some borough parking tickets allegedly were not being accounted for.

The mayor made this disclosure following a meeting of the borough council, at which he reported that this no longer is the case. All tickets now are accounted for and if a violator is excused, the reason is written on the back of the tag.

After the session, Burgess Flory was asked to elaborate on the matter. However, he would only comment: "Each ticket was not being accounted for before this time."

The mayor was quick to point out, however, that he did not mean to point an accusing finger at anyone. He merely was reporting the fact that borough police had started using "a better system" of recording parking meter fines.

Numerical Order
It was explained that the tickets are in numerical order. At the end of a day, each patrolman lists the numbers of all tags which he used. Then when a fine is paid, it is so marked in a ledger next to the number of the ticket the violator received.

In other action, council received a promise from an official of the Citizens Gas Co. that the utility would begin next week to make repairs to borough streets which were broken up while gas lines were being repaired.

Thomas Holden, the gas company's local manager, appeared at the meeting because the utility was soundly scored at last month's session for not making repairs to streets it had disturbed.

Holden told the council that his firm had to make repairs throughout the winter and that a contractor had promised to restore the streets to their normal condition as soon as the frost was out of the ground.

"It's not the intent of the gas company to leave the streets in this condition," said Holden. "We'll go over the streets with the borough engineer and then fix them."

Future Work
"Any future work will be done under rigid specifications approved by the borough engineer," he added.

Holden said the gas company hopes to have a contractor begin the streets repair work by next Monday.

On motion of Councilman Herman Smeltz, council adopted a resolution authorizing Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess to supervise the streets repair work, and calling upon the gas company to pay the engineer's fee.

"The gas company put the streets in this condition," argued Smeltz, "and the borough shouldn't be asked to pay any of the costs of making these repairs."

Council also received a petition signed by all but one resident of Grove St. that it reconsider its earlier action designating the road one-way northward.

The petitioners recommended that Grove St. be made one-way (Please Turn to Page Five)

Russia Blasts West Powers
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Russia charged today that increasing talk of armed intervention by the Western powers had worsened the situation in the Middle East.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev injected this controversial issue into a U. N. debate on a United States plan to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on a special Middle East peace mission.

The vote on the American proposal was delayed until tomorrow morning by a series of Soviet amendments and by a Syrian request for more time. Approval seemed certain, however.

Hopetul
U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., April president of the Council, said he hoped for final action when the 11-nation Security Council meets at 10:30 a.m. Hammarskjöld is ready to leave later this week.

Sobolev not only blasted what he called the increasing tendency on the part of the Western powers to plan armed intervention, under the pretext of preventing war; he also questioned the right of the United States, Britain and France to take any decisions on the Middle East problem without the participation of the governments of that area.

One Killed In Plane Crash
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 3 (AP)—A B29 Superfort knocked over the transmitting tower of radio station WOAI outside this city today, then crashed and burned. One man was killed. Six men got out of the plane safely after it crashed.

The sheriff's office said the plane exploded after it struck the ground, half a mile from the tower.

Slate Belt Bus Fares Rise
HARRISBURG, April 3 (AP)—Wagner Bus Lines, Inc., Bangor RD3, will make five and 10 cent increases in fares on its Easton-Bangor-Wind Gap route on Saturday.

The Public Utility Commission today concluded that the increases should not be suspended after making a study of the company's supporting data.

The fare will go up a dime on such runs as those between Bangor and Easton and Pen Argyl and Easton.

The Bangor-Easton charge will be increased from 35 to 45 cents; the Pen Argyl-Easton fare from 40 to 50 cents. Shorter runs, covering Wind Gap, Anderson's Lane, Pleasant Grove, Flicksville and Martin's Creek, will be boosted a nickel.

Wagner said an estimated $4,700 additional annual revenue under the new fares is needed to help meet higher operating costs.

President Gains Support In Cities
MILWAUKEE, April 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower moved into the lead tonight in his popularity test with Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) when returns were reported from more than one third of the precincts in Wisconsin's presidential primary.

The delegate vote in 2,344 of the state's 3,321 precincts: Eisenhower (R) 224,459. Kefauver (D) 176,397. John Chapple (R-favorite son) 9,615.

The early vote indicated some Wisconsin farmers were protesting the administration's agricultural policies as it gave Kefauver an advantage. These early returns were all from the rural communities that are regarded as fringe farm areas where farmers have suffered more due to lower milk prices than those in the more prosperous agricultural sections.

Pattern Changes
When the returns from the southern section and the cities and villages began to come in, however, the pattern changed and Eisenhower moved up to take the lead.

The vote was for 30 delegates on the Republican ballot and 56 each with one half vote at the Democratic convention—on the Democratic ticket. It was considered a popularity test between the President and Kefauver because the Eisenhower slate had only token opposition from a slate headed by Chapple, Ashland publisher, who is opposed to the President's foreign policies. Kefauver was unopposed in the Democratic ballot.

Delegates pledged to Kefauver had the edge in the second Congressional District which borders Milwaukee and takes in Madison, and in the ninth and 10th districts which are in the far northern section. Eisenhower delegates led in five other districts. There were no reports from Milwaukee County, which takes in two congressional districts.

Kefauver, in a last minute appeal to Wisconsin voters had urged them to cross over from the Republican ranks and vote for his delegates as a protest of the administration's policies—particularly those dealing with the farm programs.

In the 1952 delegate race, Republican candidates polled about 75 per cent of the total vote. There was a hot Republican fight that year and no contest of consequence in the Democratic primary. In the 1952 general election President Eisenhower carried the state over Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, by a 61-39 per cent margin.

Most observers believe that if the Democrats can get as much as 40 per cent of the total delegate vote it will be indication that the Democrats have gained ground. They seldom in the past have obtained more than 35 per cent of the total vote in a presidential preference primary.

The returns did not include votes from an area in central Wisconsin hit in mid-afternoon by a tornado that cost eight lives. Telephone communications were disrupted in that area.

The nine-day-old strike ended with withdrawal of picket lines at milk collection centers in southeastern Michigan.
Blame

Rev. Foose To Preach In Massachusetts

REV. WILLIAM E. Foose, pastor of the Tannersville Charge, Evangelical and Reformed Church, will take part in a unique pulpit exchange program on Sunday, April 8.

Mr. Foose will preach at the Union Congregational Church in East Walpole, Mass., while the Rev. Richard B. Carleton, pastor of that church, will preach in the Tannersville parish. Mr. Carleton will preach at St. Paul's Church, Swiftwater, at 9:15, and at Salem Church, Pocono Lake, at 10:45.

National Program
The exchange is part of a nationwide program of Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed churches in preparation for the Union of the two denominations scheduled for June, 1957. The main purpose of the pulpit exchange program is to provide an opportunity to get acquainted.

According to Dr. Albert Buckner Coe, Moderator of the Congregational Christian Churches, there is to be no discussion of the Union in the exchanges. "Each minister—Congregational Christian or Evangelical and Reformed—is asked to come to his host church and preach a sermon such as he would preach to any Christian congregation," Dr. Coe stated.

When the two denominations unite in 1957 the new body, which will be known as the United Church of Christ, will be the seventh largest Protestant group in the United States.

Rev. Foose states that more than 29 Evangelical and Reformed ministers from East Pennsylvania Synod will journey to New England on April 8, and that the same number of Congregational ministers will preach in this Synod.

Tamaqua Suffers Heavy Loss In Warehouse Fire

TAMAQUA, Pa., April 3 (P)—Two warehouses and seven frame garages were wrecked by fire Monday. The scene of the blaze was a half-block from Tamaqua's crowded downtown business district. Loss was estimated at thousands of dollars.

Companies
All of Tamaqua's four fire companies, aided by volunteers from nearby Hometown, Lansford and Coaldale, answered the call to the general alarm fire that was discovered at 9:25 a.m.—just as most and shoppers thronged to the area. The fire apparently started in the two-story frame warehouse of the Hardesty Hardware Co., then spread to the adjoining three-story structure used by the J. E. Morgan Knitting Mills.

Dangerous Road Condition At Bushkill Deserves Attention Of Highway Chiefs

A dangerous condition that exists on Route 209 at Bushkill deserves the immediate attention of State Highway Department officials.

A petition has been signed by 120 persons asking that steps be taken to prevent further loss of life at the site of a washed-out bridge over Big Bushkill Creek in the center of that community.

The petition notes that two serious accidents have occurred there recently, one costing the life of a tank truck driver. It calls for the erection of additional and larger signs at the northern, or Pike County approach to warn drivers of the sharp turn that marks the beginning of the detour leading to a temporary bridge.

The northern approach is more dangerous than the one on the Monroe County side because the sharp right turn is located within a few feet of the old bridge abutment. It is also at the foot of a slight grade.

Any heavy vehicle that goes out of control of its driver would either fail to make the turn or would crash through the barricade, as the tank truck did ten days ago. Loads of shale have been dumped between the barricade and abutment, in an attempt to prevent a recurrence of the fatal accident in which the tanker plunged into the creek some 20 or 30 feet below. This, however, does not remove the threat to oncoming traffic that a runaway vehicle would create by crossing the opposite lane. While a new bridge to replace the one destroyed in last August's flood is the desirable solution, the petitioners realize that this cannot be accomplished immediately. Therefore, they are asking for early action to warn and control traffic.

One suggested step is to erect "Bridge Out" signs of sufficient size and prominence to attract attention of truck and passenger car drivers. They should be placed at a greater distance than the present, smaller signs to give motorists adequate warning.

Establishment of a 20-mile-an-hour speed limit at both approaches would lessen the danger, the petitioners maintain. The suggestion was also made that traffic moving in both directions be required to stop at the point where Route 209 ends and the detour begins.

Because the highway is used by school buses, pedestrians, local and through traffic, the petitioners have a right to demand speedy action on correcting a bad situation. It is incumbent upon highway officials to see that they get it—and then to lose no time in constructing a new bridge at the site of the old one.

Taxpayers Have Less Than Two Weeks To File Returns With Revenue Office

In the event that you are one of those consistently optimistic people who by some mysterious reasoning have been hoping for a tax cut before April 16, we can assure you there's no use waiting any longer.

Less than two weeks from now, which includes an additional day of grace because April 15 falls on a Sunday and returns are thus acceptable if mailed or brought to the Internal Revenue office within the following 24 hours, the day of reckoning will have arrived.

If you are of the far-sighted many who filed your income tax return months ago, perhaps anticipating a return check from government for overpayment of the tax, you have nothing to worry about this coming fortnight.

But if you are among the many who somehow believe in putting off the evil day as long as possible, we recommend that you spend the next two weeks in sober contemplation of your legal responsibility to the United States Treasury.

In the old days, when the tax was such a minor matter in the national life, no one stalled until the zero hour in filing returns, but even a few years ago when March 15 was the deadline the number of dilatory souls had risen to a considerable figure.

Now that April has arrived with anticipated showers, it is well to merge your own bitter tears with the gentle rains falling upon the just and unjust alike, and whatever your opinions of Uncle Sam and his long arm reaching for your pocketbook, relax and accept philosophically the fact of the upcoming due date.

George Sokolsky Says...

What Took Place At Washington Party Attended By Harry Dexter White, Friends?

Just as the Burgess and Maclean espionage cases will not die down in Great Britain, so does the Harry Dexter White espionage case stay alive in the United States.

The fact that Lauchlin Currie, formerly a domestic assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has lost his American citizenship, makes one think of White because Currie was one of the select group of White's friends and associates who met at the Athens Cafe in Washington on May 11 (no year given). The list was found among Harry Dexter White's papers with the following names:

Mr. Appleby, Exec. Offices, Mr. C. B. Baldwin, Mr. Oscar Chapman, Interior (He will invite Mr. Fortas and Mr. Mike Strauss), Mr. Ben Cohen, White House, Mr. Oscar Cox, FEA, Dr. L. B. Currie, White House, Dr. Ezekiel, Azri, Mr. Murray Latimer, Dr. Lubin, White House, Mr. David Niles, White House, Mr. Randolph Paul, Mr. Milo Perkins, Mr. Pritchard N. W. A. Mr. Aubrey Williams, Mr. Fortas, Interior (Under Secy.), Mr. Jonathan Daniels, White House, Mr. James Rowe, (C) Mr. Wayne Coy, Budget Bur., (C) Mr. Leon Henderson, (?) Major Kades, Mr. Michael Strauss, 1st Asst. Secy., Interior.

It has now been made public, along with other documents, by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, a truly voluminous read, because it is only a compilation of documents from which it is impossible to draw any conclusions, it is nevertheless important because just as the British have suddenly realized the dangers of espionage by British officials in the interest of Soviet Russia, so here in this country, despite the work of various Congressional committees, the FBI, the Department of Justice and other agencies, the surface has not yet been scratched and we are not yet in a position to define in unmistakable terms, which will hold up in any court, what is a spy, what is a subversive, who is just a fool, who is a fighter for a strict interpretation of individual rights according to the Constitution.

Take this list, for instance. It includes more non-Communists than Communists and precisely what does it prove that Harry Dexter White arranged for them to dine at this rather obscure restaurant on a day in May? What did they talk about?

However, when we look at the record, we find some curious relationships. Paul Appleby, for instance, is now associated with Governor Harriman in New York State, in charge of the budget. In 1946, Appleby was reported to have said:

"A man in the employ of the Government had just as much right to be a member of the Communist Party as he has to be a member of the Democratic or Republican Party."

In 1953, he explained this away, as follows:

"The real character of the Communist Party greatly differentiating it from our conventional parties had not then been revealed."

But that is nonsense. Mr. Appleby must have read or heard something about the Russian Revolution by the year 1946. He must have read or heard something about the Soviet form of government, the one-party system, the power of the politburo, the authority of Stalin. He could not have achieved the important position of Under Secretary of Agriculture and be as ignorant as he claimed to be of one of the most important movements in the history of our generation.

I know nothing about Paul Appleby's relationship to the Communist Party, one way or the other, but it is fairly clear from his statements and from a memorandum dated March 23, 1944, in which he recommends Nathan Gregory Silvermaster for his loyalty and good citizenship, that Harry Dexter White knew how to use highly placed friends and that Appleby did not know how to resist such men as White, Lauchlin Currie or Alger Hiss who wanted to designate Appleby as Assistant Secretary General of the United Nations.

For all we know, this party at the Athens Cafe might have been nothing more important than a sorority meeting in a girl's high school, but then in the development of the Washington bureaucracy, these were important persons who held key positions in many departments and who were able to influence the decisions of those above them. It would be of public value if one of the persons on this list came forward with a picture of what these Number Two men in government were doing under the leadership of Harry Dexter White. Perhaps they will say that they were only appraising the difference between vodka and silovitz.

into the windows of Manhattan chophouses. . . . He was raised in Bassett Street, New Haven, "across the tracks" and in the shadow of the Winchester Arms Plant, which could have drawn him more to "westerns" than to simple nonviolent films for which he won the Academy award. . . . His first appearance in make-believe was when he appeared as a clown in a Boy Scout show at Maurice Podoloff's Arena back home. . . . He probably saw his first movies at Poll's Palace on Church Street and his earliest legit show at the Shubert on College Street. . . . It would be news to him that one of the first movie houses in New England was opened at Dixwell and Shelton Avenues, a stone's throw from his Bassett Street boyhood home. . . . Other New Haveners who scaled the heights in Hollywood include Alfred Neuman, who won an Oscar last week for the score of "Many Splendored Thing," and Cameron Menzies. . . .

Achieving Your Own Best Versus Record Breaking

"Ah, sweet mystery of life. . . 'tis love and love alone." But sweet mystery of achievement? That's another story.

All around us are people whose success doesn't make sense. Their accomplishments cannot be logically accounted for. Yet they have paralyzed minus-nothing into plus-everything. Skipping nimbly over obstacles of poverty and physical handicaps, lacking assistance and encouragement—somehow they emerge big winners in the game of life.

They can't start here, finish there. But they do. Others begin with many apparent advantages. Fighting off well-wishers with sticks, they choke on gold spoons. Lucky stars shower round, talents galore reflect promise of a fantasyland of potential success. Then, t-b-u-d! For them success is always and ever a mirage.

Disliking the sight of failure we measure IQ's seek to determine aptitudes. We flutter all over the lot, aiming people in directions calculated to bring them success. Yet predictions go awry. The one who shouldn't, does. The one who surely can, doesn't.

No measurement yet accounts for that inner spark which fires the wheels of motivation. Necessity, envy, greed are as likely to make Sammy run as are motives Simon pure. When enough sour grapes are proffered with gift card saying "You can't," they are frequently stomped into wine labelled "Oh yeah? Just watch me!"

And bravo to the determined, to success honorably come by. If it be true that we use but one-fifth of our native abilities, it should follow that great effort will produce great results.

But what of those whose ambitions exceed their talents? Particularly in the arts, ambition and hard work may not be enough. In "Quartet," Somerset Maugham wrote of a young pianist whose goal was the concert stage. He studied, practiced—he would have sacrificed anything to become an artist of the first rank. But without the God-given talent, he could never make the grade.

Although mediocre talents sometimes aim too high, virtuosity seldom aims too low. So compelling is its demand for expression, so apparent is its nature that nothing can deny the soaring heights.

Isn't it too bad that ambition isn't always accompanied by ability? And vice versa. Or just that more people are not content to do their individual best, rather than breaking all records?

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

More mention of the name of Howard Hughes, millionaire tool-maker and movie tycoon, makes Hollywood folk rush to tell you scores of stories about his rather unconventional behavior. Hughes is notoriously careless about his attire; seeing him for the first time, visitors often refuse point-blank to believe that the unshaven, sloppily dressed young man with the soiled, scuffed white sneakers can possibly be one of the richest and most powerful figures on the West Coast.

At one time, the whirlwindy Hughes went on a long-distance telephone kick, tying up the only booth in a Los Angeles drug store for hours at a time. The indignant druggist, unaware of the tycoon's identity, finally ordered him from the premises.

Hughes soon had the phone company install a second booth. "Satisfied now?" he asked. The druggist was not only satisfied, but speechless. . . . He had tried vainly for two years to get that second booth!

Three Atomic Powers To Hold Nuclear Tests Simultaneously

Washington, April 4 — The next series of U. S. nuclear tests gets under way in the South Pacific sometime between April 15 and 20.

Depending on the weather, the first explosion will occur between those dates.

These tests will be the longest and, in certain respects, the most important ever conducted by the U. S. On an almost weekly basis, they will continue into July, and possibly August.

Further significance attaches to this period because for the first time all three atomic powers will be conducting weapons experiments.

Britain will stage two sets of tests, both in Australia. The first will be on the barren Monte Bello Islands around May 1; the second at Maralinga, a new proving ground 500 miles west of Woomera. The Soviets' explosions in Siberia are now on a year-around basis. The latest was in early March, and one or more are likely this month.

The new U. S. series in the Marshall Islands will cost upwards of $80,000,000.

The Joint Task Force conducting these vital experiments consists of 50 naval vessels, several hundred military planes, and thousands of scientists, technicians and specialists of all kinds. The giant operation is under the command of Admiral Byron H. Hanlon.

What's Planned — Stated for testing is an extensive range of new weapons and devices; among them an anti-aircraft missile armed with an atomic warhead, and an air-to-air missile with a nuclear warhead.

This remarkable new weapon will be test-fired against a drone jet plane carrying an atomic bomb.

Another outstanding experiment will be the first U. S. air-drop of H-bombs. All previous American hydrogen explosions have been stationary. This time, an Air Force bomber will drop an H-bomb from a great height.

The bomb will not be as powerful as the one exploded on March 1, 1954. That was equivalent to seventeen million tons of TNT, and still ranks as the mightiest explosion in history. The second greatest was the H-bomb detonated by the Russians in November 1953, estimated equivalent to twelve million tons of TNT.

Numerous new safety measures feature the forthcoming South Pacific tests.

The utmost precautions are being taken to avoid a repetition of the mishaps during the 1954 explosions, when a radioactive "fall-out" hit a Navy ship, Japanese fishermen and natives on islands hundreds of miles away. Foremost among the added safeguards are the following:

A vast "danger area" has been marked out of more than 420,000 square miles.

Greatly improved techniques and equipment will provide much more reliable weather information, particularly as regards changes in wind direction and speed.

Before each explosion, extensive air and sea patrols will be conducted to ensure that no vessel or plane has strayed into the "danger area."

Similar far-flung patrols will also be sent out after each test. They will particularly gather radiological and other important data.

Weather and Public Health Service personnel will be stationed on all the islands in the "danger area," for the twofold purpose of protecting the natives and compiling certain reports.

The forthcoming experiments will be witnessed by numerous officials and other invited observers. The latter will include British scientists and military officers. U. S. authorities will attend the British tests. This exchange was arranged by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden during his visit to Washington in February.

Going Places — The Chinese Nationalists' new Washington Ambassador is Hollington K. Tong, who has been in Paris. He is replacing Wellington Koo, who is retiring to live in France. . . . The atomic reactor Brazil is getting from the U. S. will be installed at the University of Sao Paulo and will be in full operation by the end of this year. . . . President Magsaysay has told the State Department there are some Philippine violations of the ban against trade with Red China, but they are illegal and amount to "leakage." Magsaysay has informed the State Department, "It is difficult to prevent this trade with the Reds because after Philippine goods are shipped to a friendly country, there is no way we can control their reshipment. That is particularly true as regards Hongkong, which is British-ruled and where trade is legal."

General Hospital Among 3,102 Accredited Medical Plants

Decision On Departments Of Operation

GENERAL HOSPITAL of Monroe County is once again one of the 3,102 fully accredited hospitals in the United States.

A list of fully and provisionally accredited hospitals is released each year by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, commission director, pointed out that "the accreditation program is a voluntary one and only those hospitals which request survey are visited."

The JCAH is an agency established by five leading health organizations—the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association. It is designed to conduct hospital survey and inspection programs initiated by the American College of Surgeons in 1919.

Accreditation of a hospital means, Dr. Babcock said, "that it has voluntarily submitted to a survey of its facilities and its patient care. It is a badge of recognition which the hospital can display to its community to prove that it conforms to high standards of patient care."

Dr. Babcock said that the surveyors, all physicians, rate a hospital on certain basic requirements such as: a safe physical plant free from fire hazards; proper supervision and review by the medical staff of the clinical work done in the hospital; maternal, infant and anesthetic death rates that are not excessively high; adequate medical records; ethical practices; investigation of all tissue removed at operation; mortality rates that are within reasonable limits; proper nursing care; proper administrative and medical staff organization.

Michelfelder Wins $1,400 Scholarship To Valley Forge

A STROUD UNION HIGH SCHOOL senior—Ernest Michelfelder Jr.—is the winner of a two-year $1400 annual scholarship to Valley Forge Junior College.

The scholarship is based on musical ability. This is the second consecutive year in which such a Valley Forge scholarship has been awarded to a Stroudsburg student. Last year's winner was Floyd Frisbie.

Michelfelder is 17 years old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Michelfelder Sr., 437 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg. He won the scholarship through an audition for the college band.

He is president of the Stroud Union Band of which he has been a member the past seven years. He is also an active member of a select, 30-member band ensemble now rehearsing at the school under direction of John Pyle, instrumental music director.

The youth was a member of the school orchestra for two years when that organization was active. He is now a first tenor with the boys chorus and mixed chorus. Michelfelder went to district band twice, State band once and to district chorus one time from the local high school.

He holds membership in the Kiwanis Key Club and is one of two presidents of the high school math club (there was a tie in the voting). Michelfelder is a student council member.

He and John Hiller have organized a Dixieland band called "The Seven Swingers." The two boys direct the band and make arrangements for appearances.

BERTH OF AN EMPRESS—The newest of the Great White Empress fleet, Canadian Pacific's 26,000-ton flagship, Empress of Britain, moves out of her berth on the river Clyde, in Scotland, on the first lap of her voyage to Liverpool, England. The luxury liner will undergo sea trials. She will sail for Canada on her maiden trans-Atlantic voyage on April 20, arriving in Montreal six days later. She is one of the most modern liners afloat.

IT TAKES PULL—London's Margaret Mawer doesn't like office work—too tame—so she's training for a vigorous role as a movie stunt girl. Barely over five feet tall, she can bend six-inch nails with her hands.

THE RATHAUSTURM—One of the most picturesque landmarks in Lucerne, Switzerland, is the Rathaus-turm. It was built in 1350 with quarters for a fire watchman. The helmet tower was added in 1618.

'WATER' WHEEL—A puzzling photo at first, this is a ferris wheel reflected in a puddle of melted snow on Vienna playground. Wheelbase is in background.

MICHIGAN'S 'LIVING MEMORIAL'

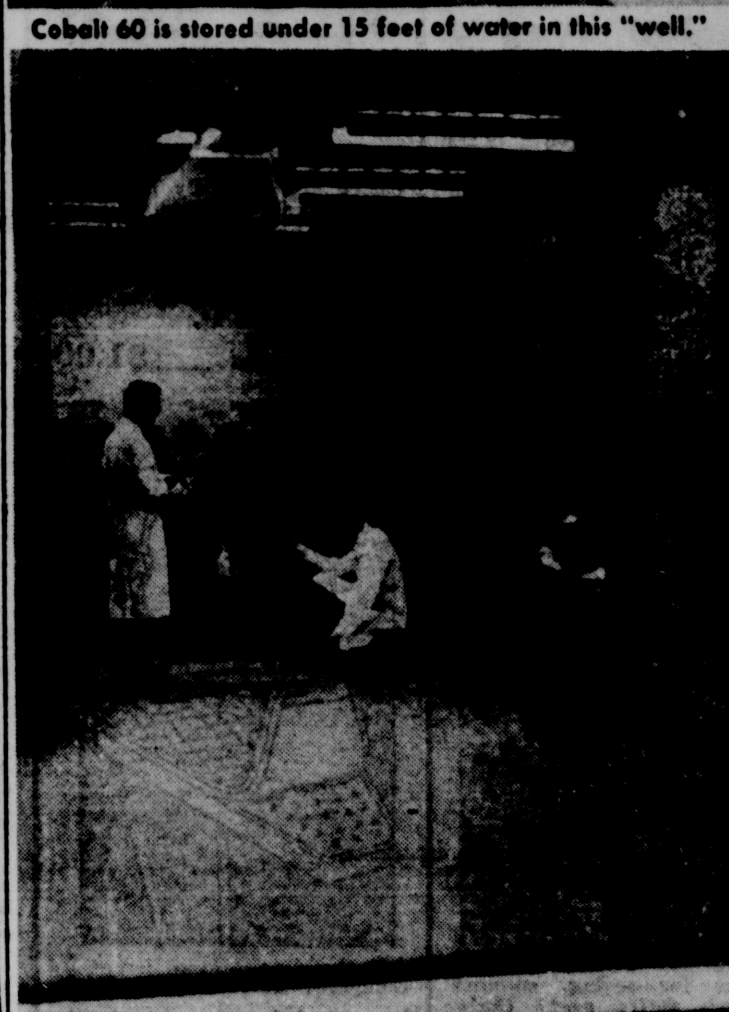

ON THE CAMPUS of the University of Michigan is a $1,850,000 laboratory which is a memorial to the dead of World War II and a monumental hope for generations to come. It is the Phoenix Memorial laboratory, the most complete laboratory for atomic research in the United States outside the vast installations of the federal government. Here are conducted research projects on the beneficial uses of atomic energy. Building contains facilities for handling of radioactive materials, library on atomic energy, carefully designed labs and working areas, a greenhouse for botanical work and a labyrinth chamber where a powerful source of Cobalt 60 is stored at bottom of a 15-foot well. At north end of the lab, the $1-million Ford nuclear reactor is being built.

Cobalt 60 is stored under 15 feet of water in this "well."

In radiation caves, they're carrying on research studies.

Radioactive materials are stored behind plugs in a vault.

Uranium elements will be suspended in nuclear reactor.

DL&W To Distribute Rail Stock

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Co. today notified the Interstate Commerce Commission it proposes to distribute a portion of its Nickel Plate Railroad stock as a dividend to Lackawanna capital stockholders.

Details of the distribution plan were not disclosed. Lackawanna representatives here estimated informally that the distribution would involve between 50,000 and 60,000 shares of Nickel Plate common, of which Lackawanna owns more than 360,000, now held in a voting trust.

The advisory notice to ICC was in relation to an amendment to that trust agreement to permit release of the Nickel Plate shares proposed for dividend distribution. The Nickel Plate is formally known as the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Co.

The ICC has scheduled a hearing for April 17 on the Lackawanna holdings in Nickel Plate, as a result of the latter company's charge that Lackawanna has been moving for many years to control Nickel Plate and eventually absorb it.

House Adopts Tax Proposal To Benefit Korean Veterans

HARRISBURG, April 3 (AP)—The House adopted today, by a landslide vote, a proposal requiring adoption of some type of tax to finance a 150 million dollar bonus to Korean War veterans before the bonus could be paid.

The action came after the Democratic House leadership dropped the idea of hooking up the bonus with a graduated income tax to finance it. Veterans organizations opposed that proposal.

The new proposal, requiring some tax but without having any specific levy, was adopted 180-12. Nine Republicans and three Democrats opposed the proposal.

After tacking on the tax rider, the House advanced the question of the Korean bonus for a vote on passage, possibly tomorrow.

Floor Leader
Rep. Hendinger, Democratic floor leader, who proposed the tax rider, said it would "make sure we don't make the same mistakes as before" of approving a bonus to war veterans without at the same time providing means to finance it.

In another prime development, administration leaders also decided to support a $200 permanent salary increase for Pennsylvania's 60,000 school teachers to start the 1956-57 school year.

The new increase would be in addition to the $200 boost the teachers will receive under a 1951 teacher salary law. That automatic increase will continue until 1960.

The administration action today graded downward a teacher salary bill approved two weeks ago by the House Education Committee. That would have granted a $500 increase during the next two school years.

Senate
Over in the Senate, that branch passed a bill making parents responsible up to $100 for property damage done by their children. The measure went to the House.

The Senate defeated 13-29 a bill to permit the Allegheny County school board to levy a wage tax to finance rising cost of operating schools in that county.

Union Levels Charge At Westinghouse

CHESTER, Pa., April 3 (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. has committed "an act of bad faith," the union charged today, as resumed negotiations to settle the 172-day-old strike at the company's Lester plant hit a snag.

Carl Gray, president of Local 107, United Electrical Workers, Independent, said 10 or 12 automobile loads of engineers were driven into the plant this morning.

"This is the first time since Oct. 14 (when the strike began) that this has happened," Gray said.

Statement
"The company is deliberately trying to provoke some kind of incident," the union head said.

"A company that is negotiating in good faith doesn't do something provocative."

The union committee told the company that it is "showing no signs of wanting to settle this main problem here," a spokesman for Local 107 said.

William W. Heimbach, plant manager of industrial relations, said "the union apparently has not yet learned that under the law we can move anything or anybody in or out of the plant."

"This position has been backed by the Delaware County Court. If there is any bad faith it is on the part of the union in failing to understand that we have these legal rights."

The gate mentioned by Gray is being picketed. A union spokesman said there was no incident there this morning.

Stock Market Closes At Lower Mark

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—The stock market went through a series of narrow price moves today and closed slightly lower.

Most of the time the market was thoroughly mixed. In final phases of trading the market made an attempt to go higher, but selling near the close depressed prices enough to send the entire market to the minus column by a rather narrow margin.

Most changes either way were small with the outside limits around 3 points lower to 2 points higher.

A great part of the apparent strength of the market was lodged in a handful of blue chips. Principle coppers were lower, but just about every major division was mixed.

Selective Nature

The selective nature of trading was a reflection of the advice of many brokerage houses to their customers to exercise caution in their approach to the market at the present time.

That is because the market has been advancing steeply for some seven weeks, and in the usual course of events a consolidating reaction tops such long climbs. When such a decline will come and how severe it will be is a matter for personal judgment.

The Associated Press averages of 60 stocks was off 50 cents at $190.40. Yesterday it was at a record high level. The industrial component of the average edged ahead 20 cents to a new record high of $272.90 while the railroads fell back $1.10 and the utilities lost 20 cents.

There were 1,218 individual issues traded of which 354 were higher and 617 lower with 92 new highs and 52 new lows for the year.

Volume amounted to 2,760,000 shares as compared with 3,120,000 shares traded yesterday.

The first five stocks on the most active list were higher while the second five were lower.

Pennsylvania Railroad again was at the top of the list off 1/2 at 27.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed on volume of 1,540,000 shares as compared with 1,580,000 shares yesterday.

Corporate bonds were lower, and U.S. government issues in the over the counter market were also lower.

Services Held For Mrs. Councill

Rev. Frank H. Blatt, Zion Reformed Church, Stroudsburg officiated. Funeral arrangements were made by Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home.

FBI Agent Testifies Against Andrews In Strafford Case

PHILADELPHIA, April 3 (AP)—An FBI agent testified today that John J. Andrews, 42-year-old Philadelphian, orally admitted taking part in the $19,000 holdup at the Strafford branch of the Wayne Title and Trust Co. last Oct. 10.

The testimony of the agent, Edwin F. Stiles, came just before the government rested its case in U.S. District Court against Andrews and a co-defendant, Philip J. Howell, 55, of Baltimore.

Stiles told Judge Thomas J. Clary and the jury of seven women and five men that Andrews also admitted he had two accomplices but refused to name them. He said Andrews told him the three abandoned their getaway car a short distance away because they felt that a woman at the bank had jotted down the license number.

Split Up

The agent quoted Andrews as saying that the trio split up and that he went to Pittsburgh where he was arrested.

Other FBI agents testified that 92 five dollar bills found in Howell's safety deposit box in a Baltimore bank were identified as part of the holdup loot.

American Motors cars are a single unit like modern trains and planes. Big frame box-borders make a steel enclosure as big as the car, giving true "wrap-around" protection. It's welded, twice as strong, twice as safe, twice as long-lasting.
Other cars still bolt the body to a separate, flat frame . . . the same basic construction principle used in building excarts.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

A thrifty-minded woman likes to get a little mileage out of her Easter corsage and that's not easy with so few formal occasions. A trip down town to the grocery shopping, for instance, hardly warrants orchids.

Which is another reason why the Junior Woman's Club Senior-Mother night came at such a good time. The new Easter outfits will be good for a lot of Spring meetings, but some of the corsages just about made it to Tuesday.

However, the Mothers and Seniors will have to wait until tomorrow for their story. The big story at last night's meeting was the amount raised at the Storybook Fair. The Junior Woman had pledged themselves to $600 for the Day Care Training Center, whether they made that much or not. So the check for the entire amount came as a tremendous surprise to the teachers—$1,078, if you please, and don't forget the 72 cents.

And if you're planning a sunrise service for next Easter dawn, you'd do well to remember the lesson learned by the Water Gap Youth Fellowship. Official sunrise time was 5:43. They were there on The Heights and started their service right on the dot. It was the sun who was late. Oh, not late in rising, but they'd forgotten to take into consideration that it takes a little time, even for the sun, to get to the top of Mount Tammany and stick his head above Mount Minsi.

Those asterisks represent a long passage of time, several phone calls, and a lot of people irritated because they couldn't recall the names of the Delaware Water Gap, until after much soul-searching. They also represent another long pause while sundry people debated how to spell Tammany.

There were those who leaned to "Taminy" like Camp Tamiment but I held out for "Tammany" like Tammany Hall. It seems logical that the mountain, like the society, took its name from the Lenape Tamaneud, who the dictionary says, "was famous for wisdom in council and friendliness to the whites".

Easter Program, Spring Schedule For Y-Gradale

IN THE post-Easter program of the local Y-Gradale held Monday night at the YMCA, Mrs. Richard Andress and Mrs. Anthony Quaresimo conducted the opening devotions. Mrs. Guy Dean, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Madelyn Maloney who reviewed Anne Morrow Lindbergh's book "A Gift from the Sea," using sketches prepared by Fran Meredith to illustrate the sea shells which symbolized for Mrs. Lindbergh the enrichment of her inner and personal life.

During the business meeting with Mrs. Jack Luckey presiding, the Flood Fund which grew from contributions sent by Y-Gradale groups around the country was reviewed by the treasurer, Mrs. Robert Shaw. It was voted to use the balance in the fund to purchase Y memberships for boys in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg flood areas who otherwise could not afford them. John Wilson, local Y secretary, and Capt. Charles Baker of the Salvation Army will be consulted for recommendations of boys.

The Y-Gradale also voted its own donation to the World Service Fund to be used to further the work of the YMCA in 78 countries. Mrs. Guy Dean was appointed World Service coordinator for the local chapter. She will automatically become a member of the state World Service committee.

A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Lester Boushell, Mrs. Stanley Grace and Mrs. Eugene Hippler was appointed. They will report at the next meeting with elections scheduled for the first Monday in May.

Two inter-chapter meetings were arranged with the Bangor Y-Gradale. The Stroudsburg chapter accepted an invitation from Bangor to attend their meeting on April 17 with local members meeting at the Y at 7:15 for transportation. The Bangor chapter will be the guests of the local chapter on May 7.

Other activities planned by the group include a bakeless bake sale at the meeting on April 16 with each member responsible for a donation. The money will be used for the World Service pledge. Mrs. Frank Melvin and Mrs. James Detrick were appointed to study plans for a Fall Fashion Show.

The group also decided on the end of April as the time for their visit to the Monroe County Home when they will arrange a social program for the guests there. Mrs. Joseph DeVivo, Mrs. B. Duncan and Mrs. James Farry were named as hostesses for the next meeting.

After the program refreshments were served by Mrs. Franklin Clifton, Mrs. Guy Dean, and Mrs. James Detrick.

Bangor Juniors Mother - Daughter Banquet Set

Bangor—It was announced at the regular meeting of the Bangor Junior Woman's Club on Monday evening that their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet would be held on May 10 at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg. Meeting was held in the Club Room of the Public Library Building.

Mrs. William Swope was elected president for the coming year. She succeeds Mrs. Dominic DePaolo. Mrs. Herbert Dean was elected first vice president and Mrs. Theodore Schwanda, second vice president.

Also elected were Mrs. Daniel Martino as treasurer; Mrs. James Brusie as assistant treasurer; Mrs. James Pritchard as recording secretary; Miss Jervaise Frey as corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Russell Brown as assistant corresponding secretary.

An auditing committee composed of Miss Frey, Miss Jeanette Kinginger, and Miss Jean Marie Collins was appointed by Mrs. DePaolo, in charge of Monday's meeting.

Mrs. DePaolo announced a white elephant sale following the tour of homes scheduled for May 21. She also announced next meeting to be held 7:30 p.m. on May 7 in the Club rooms.

Entertainment was provided by Miss Cynthia Trigiani with a recitation and Mrs. J. L. McNeil, of Allentown, with a talk on "Food Preparation" and a display of three-days array of food.

HAPPY ENDING

All decorating should be planned and carried out on the basic plan. This plan should embrace what you are going to do and what it will do for you. The cost is determined by your purse. For the successful culmination of your plans, consider family habits, seek professional decorating advice and disregard the suggestions of well-meaning friends.

All floor coverings should be purchased with an eye to family habits. If your household is a busy one with a heavy traffic problem, consider the advantages of linoleum and vinyl tiles. It was announced yesterday by Mrs. Joseph Vignione, chairman for the Women's Auxiliary to the Monroe County Medical Society, which is sponsoring the contest in the local schools.

Women Of The Moose

The Women of the Moose will hold initiation of new members at their meeting on Wednesday night at 8 at the POS of A Hall, Sixth St., Stroudsburg. A covered dish supper will follow the meeting.

Dear Mrs. Maloney:
I am the mother of a girl who will graduate from high school this June. No further education is contemplated. She would like to work, but wishes me to make the rounds with her. This I am reluctant to do. I feel her chances are greater alone.

I have read your column since it began, and feel I know you well enough to ask a favor. Please write something that will help her in applying for work.

Sincerely,
Mrs. . . .

This is my fourth attempt at answering your letter, Mrs. . . .

I know what I mean to say and realize that there is a great deal that might be said . . . but it's difficult to set the words down so that they will help, rather than frighten, the teen-ager, and so that they will not sound smug on my part.

As you may know, my position here at Wyckoff's involves interviewing applicants, and I sometimes feel that somewhere along the way adults are very remiss in preparing young people for their first venture into the business world. Too many job seekers come in totally unprepared for answering even the simplest questions . . . and far too many appear looking like carefree kids rather than like young men and women about to embark on careers. It's amazing how few of them even take time to REALLY read the application forms and answer the questions correctly.

Every applicant should bring a social security card if one has ever been obtained. Before applying for work, he or she should have taken personal stock of his or her talents and abilities, and these qualifications should be listed in the proper places on the form, along with such other information as schooling and personal references. It is strange how few people are prepared to give references. Only after intensive questioning can you learn the identity of their doctor, minister, business associates and neighbors. Yet this information will most certainly be asked, and there is no reason why the applicant should not come forearmed with names, addresses, and other particulars.

As for the parent accompanying the child, I agree with Mrs. . . . that her daughter would do better alone. Successful hiring is not done on the basis of whose daughter an applicant may be, but on how "daughter" looks, speaks, conducts herself, and what she appears capable of doing. If a parent looms too largely in the picture it is only natural to wonder whether the applicant is capable of making her own decisions, or thinking her own way out of a dilemma. Almost all positions require one to talk with strangers, so why not begin with the personnel officer?

Another pitfall into which many youngsters tumble is downright sloppiness. Just as a model dresses differently from an instructor at a roller rink, so is a special type of attire demanded for almost every job. I have yet to see a saleswoman attired in dungarees and anklets while at work, yet there are applicants by the score dressed just this way, and chewing gum as fast as their jaws will permit. Equally unsuitable are lavish makeup, cowbeebly blouses with plunging necklines, chandelier earrings and overpowering perfume.

Probably the best rules for job hunters to follow would be: be aggressive without seeming bold; be polite, friendly and alert; be frank about what you can and cannot do, and look suitable—which means neat, sensible, and above all CLEAN. NEVER apply by telephone. It is unbusinesslike to begin with, for no employer will hire sight unseen. Nor will any pertinent information be given, except during a personal interview. With all this in mind, getting a job isn't difficult at all—just accept, right at the start, that business is business, and being "businesslike" is the answer.

Dulles Sells Diplomacy By Travel, Not Like In Old Days When Letters Did Secretary's Job

By Arthur Edson
WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Sometimes that itinerant diplomacy salesman, John Foster Dulles, must yearn for the good old days, when a secretary of state stayed put, and business was carried on leisurely by mail.

Now diplomacy, at least as practiced by Dulles, is always on the go. And while it may solve problems, it may also create some.

Dulles put his finger on one such small problem at the start of his 40-minute news conference today. For some time, he said, he had been eager to invite the French Foreign Minister, Christian Pineau, to visit the United States.

Finally the invitation was delivered successfully. The two diplomacy drummers bumped into one another not in Paris nor in Washington, but in far away Karachi.

The Israelis seem to be critical of us for not supplying them with arms, while the Arabs appear critical lest we will.

French Premier Guy Mollet thinks we've been too haughty and have done too much preaching.

The Icelanders want our troops to go home.

The Netherlands don't like a speech Dulles made in Jakarta, and so on. If anybody thinks the United States is doing a fine job, no reporter mentioned it today.

So John Foster Dulles stood there, hand in his pants pockets, talking a little like a college professor who is being heckled, mildly, by his students.

Sometimes his words were smoothing, such as when he dealt with Iceland's problem. How would we feel if we had six million non-English speaking troops here? Dulles said the situation facing Iceland is comparable the same—considering it's small population—and so is quite understandable.

Sometimes his words were philosophic. As he hurried about the world, he said, he hears a great deal of criticism. This is the greatest tribute this country can have, Dulles said. For it means that any other nation feels free to speak its piece any time without fear of reprisals.

Well, if that view is correct, it was a comforting day. Tributes seemed to be pouring in from all sides.

But somehow Dulles' looks belied his optimistic words. He did not look like a man accepting bouquets. Mostly, he was somber, and he seemed unusually careful in his replies to make sure that if he didn't find the correct word he at least used an inoffensive one.

Certainly while flying about the world, conscious that any brush fire can set off a worldwide conflagration, Dulles must look back with a bit of envy to the leisurely pace of diplomacy in the old days.

For example, Secretary of State Thomas Jefferson sent William Carmichael to Madrid, and then never heard from him.

In March, 1791, Jefferson finally lost patience. "Your letter of May 6, 1790, is still the last received," Jefferson wrote, "and that is now two years old. A full explanation . . . is expected."

OFF THE RECORD

Baseball
By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

THE LATE Connie Mack, owner and manager of the Philadelphia Athletics for more than 50 years, once remarked "that pitching is 75 per cent of the game of baseball."

We will go the man who became an institution in the Quaker City one better and say, "in high school ball pitching is 90 per cent of the game."

What brings this thought of hurling domination over the batters. Well as we gaze out of the office window we see storm clouds brewing and coupling this new weather threat with recent snow obstacles you find not the best conditions for whipping a ball team into shape.

This is the problem the local high school mentors are facing at the present time. For instance, at Stroudsburg High School, Jerry Stulgaitis' diamond proteges have yet to toss a ball on the outside.

The Mountaineer baseball hopefuls have been working out, and very little at that, in the school gymnasium. What accomplishments, if any, Stulgaitis is making remains to be seen.

But there's one thing certain. If the Mountaineers are throwing the horseshoe within the confines of the West Main Street building, only the moundsman are benefitting from the drills.

The batter, well he'll probably round into hitting form by the time the season is halfway over.

This situation is nothing new to high school and college baseball mentors. Due to the early start of the diamond campaign, the "northern" tutors are faced always with the task of getting the most drills completed in the least time.

This year more than ever, Stulgaitis will have to come up with a few hurlers to carry the burden of the Mountaineers' fortunes. If Jerry can't find two or three twirlers capable of weathering the expected trouble then Stroudsburg High's baseball hopes may be jarred when the 1956 season goes into the books.

One thing, the likeable Stroudsburg mentor will not be alone in this category. A majority, if not all, of the scholastic and collegiate coaches in the area are up the same tree.

If nothing else, the situation should provide at least an interesting campaign for local diamond fans.

It also will be interesting to note whether pitching will govern the greater part of scholastic and college baseball this spring.

We have a hunch it will.

QUICK PICKUPS—Hank Stezar, the promoting impresario from Seranton, returns to the match-making trail Monday night, at the Electric City's Town Hall with a grunt and groan program.

The wrestling show, first in a long time in the Coal Region city, will feature a pair of tabbed "grappling adonis" in the persons of the Stevens' brothers, Ray and Don. Four matches are scheduled at the Antiharcite arena.

The recent displays of praise poured forth by the head football coaches of Lehigh University and Lafayette College teams could mean that two former Stroudsburg High luminaries will be facing each other next fall.

In releases from Bethlehem and Easton, Lehigh mentor, Bill Leck-onby, and Lafayette boss Steve Hokuf, lauded the efforts of two former Mountaineers to such an extent that we wouldn't be surprised that Engineer Dave Nevil and Leopold Al Adelmann come to grips on the striped field when the two teams tangle in November.

Nevil, a sophomore addition to the Lehigh varsity, has looked impressive in early workouts at end, while Adelmann, a vet flankman at Lafayette, also has performed in grand style in spring drills. Of the two, at this writing, Adelmann has the better chance of cracking the Leopards' first team. However, Nevil has shown enough ability to give three other Lehigh veteran wing aspirants a run for their money for a first string berth.

Three former basketball coaches remain on the Penn State campus as members of the teaching staff.

Rookie Frank Robinson of St. Petersburg hit the first pitch he faced for a home run in a Cincinnati intrasquad game this season.

Sees Only Injury Epidemic Keeping Dodgers Out Of 1956 World Series
By Jack Hand
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 3 —Only a severe epidemic of crippling injuries can keep Brooklyn City out of the World Series next fall. The Dodgers have the power, defense and pitching to run away from the National League.

If the Dodgers had shown a tendency to complacency and over-confidence it has been quickly knocked out by an early series of injuries to pitchers Don Bessent and Billy Loes and outfielder

Philadelphia Takes 2-1 Edge In NBA Playoff Series

Allen Renews Verbal Attack On AAU Aide

LIBERAL, Kan., April 3 —Dr. Forrest C. Allen, defendant in a $35,000 slander suit filed by Harry D. Henshel, said last night he was surprised that Henshel "sued for only $35,000 because what I am going to say about him is going to be worth at least $100,000."

Allen, University of Kansas basketball coach, took a few verbal slaps at the AAU and then made reference to the Kansas board of regents, which turned down his request that he be allowed to stay on another year as coach. Henshel heads the AAU Olympic Basketball Committee.

Lambasts AAU
"I like the AAU like a fellow likes garlic for dessert," Allen told a Liberal Downtown Quarterback meeting. "Henshel is just one of the seven of that mystic hooded order which crucified Wes Santee (the nation's top miler)."

Allen said he received a letter from Henshel hinting he would drop the suit if Allen issued a suitable apology. Allen said he hopes the AAU official follows through with the suit.

May File Counter
"We may file a counter suit based on some of the things he said about Santee," Allen said. "Santee is one of the finest, cleanest living gentlemen I know, but he talked too much. Trackmen have been receiving money for years."

The KU coach, who has reached the mandatory retirement age of 70, said he doesn't "have the faintest idea" what he will do in the future.

Kin Of Nashua Given Life By Veterinarian

BALTIMORE, Md., April 3 —The same blood as Nashua mixed with some from a show jumping horse and nursery milk from a cow are things which helped one thoroughbred to stay alive.

Dr. John E. Gadd, a veterinarian, is responsible for the yearling romping about a farm with the chance someday of being a champion.

Without the doctor, the little colt undoubtedly would be dead. Now, he's expected to go to the races within two years as the nephew of Nashua, the 1955 champion.

Yet Unnamed
The unnamed yearling's mother is Segment, an 8-year-old sister of Nashua. His father is Occup. Their blood is incompatible—similar to the human factor which makes survival after birth a long shot.

Dr. Gadd was aware of the danger and made preparations in advance to cope with it.

He had determined that a substance which destroys red cells in a foal are passed through the milk of the mother during the first 36 hours after birth.

Slept In Barn
So as the time for delivery approached, Dr. Gadd slept in the barn with Segment. He had a blood transfusion ready—from Atom Power, a show jumper.

Then he fed the foal by bottle with milk from a Guernsey cow. He put a muzzle on the foal so he couldn't get any of the dangerous milk from his mother.

Dr. Gadd allowed the foal to be nursed by his mother after 36 hours and no ill effects appeared. The first offspring of Segment lived only four hours without the precautions taken by Dr. Gadd.

Physical Checkup Slated For Loes

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 3 —Billy Loes, lame-armed Brooklyn right-hander, left the Dodgers tonight and return to New York for a complete physical checkup.

"We'll send him to a medical man before trying an arm splint," said Vice President Buzzy Bavasi who will accompany Loes home.

Stengel Holds Off Decision On Don Larsen

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 3 —Manager Casey Stengel said today he was undecided what disciplinary action, if any, should be taken against pitcher Don Larsen, who smashed his automobile into a light pole at 5:30 a. m. this morning.

"It's too bad this had to happen," Stengel said. "Don's behavior has been good this spring."

Larsen, 26, lost a cap from a front tooth but otherwise escaped injury in the accident.

Damage to the convertible car, which rammed into a metal pole on a south side thoroughfare here, was placed at $800.

Faces 2 Violations
Patrolman James Liddle said the fast ball pitcher fell asleep at the wheel. The officer held Larsen into police court and charged him with two technical violations: speeding at from 35 to 50 miles an hour in the city limits; driving without a license.

Larsen whose home is in San Diego, Calif., said he owned a California driving license but didn't have it with him. A hearing is scheduled Thursday, the day the Yankees break camp.

Links Workers Ready Course For Masters

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 3 —The greenskeepers trimmed a lot of grass today, and they'll probably do it at least once more before the 20th Masters tournament begins Thursday. But even then the huge carpets probably won't be in that stage of slick hardness that has driven a lot of golfers to despair in past years.

With this one exception, the vast 6,800 yard Augusta National layout is in a state of tip-top perfection for the tournament. And the comparatively easy putting likely will be offset by the soft thickness of the fairway grass that cuts down the roll of the ball.

Mowed Down
The greens were mowed to three-sixteenths of an inch this morning, but the eye grass sown over the Bermuda base to give color to the course is unusually thick and heavy.

"They're perfect the way they are," commented former amateur champion Gene Lister as he finished an early practice round.

"I'd like to have them this way all through the tournament, but they'll probably be faster. They always are."

Pertinent Topic
Little, now one of the top money winners on the pro circuit, touched on an extremely pertinent topic. There's a pleasant sort of sameness about the Masters from year to year and one unchanging factor is that the championship generally is decided by putting.

And most times the putting surfaces are glassy smooth so that only a player with the finest touch can master them. In their present state, they're a little easier to handle and tournament officials don't believe they'll be really fast unless there's a lot of heat and wind to dry them.

All this contributes to making the 20th Masters one of the widest-open tournaments ever held here. About 85 hand-picked golfers, a record number, are expected to start the opening round Thursday. And among them are literally dozens who could win.

PIAA Officials Meet Tomorrow

Johnny Dee Quits As Tide's Coach
TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 3 —Johnny Dee, 32, basketball coach who guided Alabama's Crimson Tide to the Southeastern Conference championship last year, is resigning to enter private business.

Dee coached at Alabama for four years.

Dee's resignation came as a surprise in most quarters. No thought has yet been given to a successor.

The current season will mark Glenn N. "Nick" Thiel's 22nd season at the coaching helm of the Penn State lacrosse team.

Yank Hurler Halted

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 3 —The Boston Red Sox jumped on left-hander Rip Coleman of the New York Yankees for five runs and routed him in the second inning today. They went on to a 5-3 victory to gain a 2-1 edge over the American League champions in spring competition.

The Yankee southpaw had been unscathed upon in 12 exhibition innings previous to getting his lumps today.

Right-hander Tom Brewer held the Bombers to four hits and no runs in seven innings. This ran up a string of 18 consecutive frames in which Boston pitching held New York scoreless.

Rip's 3-Run Belt Gives Cards Win

TAMPA, Fla., April 3 —A barrage of extra base hits, topped by Rip Repulski's three-run homer, was laid down against Dick Donovan and Dixie Howell by the St. Louis Cardinals today as they trimmed the Chicago White Sox, 7-5.

The game was both teams' finale in Florida and marked the Sox' fourth successive defeat.

Montreal Tops Wings, Grabs 2-0 NHL Lead

Kline Allows Only 2 Hits In 9 Frames

NEW ORLEANS, April 3 —Ronnie Kline, Pittsburgh Pirate right-hander who had a 6-13 record last season, gave up only two singles over a nine inning stretch tonight as the Pirates edged the Kansas City Athletics 4-3 in 10 innings.

Infielder Curt Roberts got his third hit of the night in the extra inning to push over the winning run. The victory went to Roy Face who pitched hitless ball in his one inning stint.

Errors Help A's
Two Pirates errors in the fourth inning accounted for two Kansas City runs. They got their third in the eighth when Kline gave up one of his hits, walked two and Spook Jacobs hit a sacrifice fly.

Giants Blast Garcia, Post 14-13 Triumph

LUBBOCK, Tex., April 3 —The New York Giants clubbed big Mike Garcia for eight consecutive hits and nine runs in the second inning but barely outlasted the Cleveland Indians, 14-13, in a slug-ging rodeo today. A strong wind helped the batters and the footing of the fielders was unsteady on the loose turf.

Rhodes Hits HR
Pitcher Ruben Gomez and Dusty Rhodes clouted homers for the Giants in the big second and Ed Bressoud sailed a three-run homer along with windstream in the second for a 12-4 New York lead.

Martinez Out To Post 21st Straight Win

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 3 —Vince Martinez is a strong favorite to score his 21st straight victory when he meets Miguel Diaz of Cuba in tomorrow night's television fight, but the Paterson, N. J., welterweight isn't taking the bout lightly.

"We're right up there for a title fight with Johnny Saxton," said Martinez' manager, Bill Daley. "Any loss right now would knock us out of the picture."

To Offer $100,000
Daley said that with the financial backing of a group of New Jersey business men he plans to offer Saxton $100,000 to meet the handsome Martinez for the welter-weight championship.

Martinez now is the fourth-ranking contender in the division. Martinez trained three weeks for his fight with Diaz, the Cuban welterweight champ and a part-time detective. The 10-round fight will be televised and broadcast nationally ABC from the Miami Beach Auditorium starting at 10 p. m. EST.

47-3 Record
Martinez, 26, has a 47-3 record including 23 knockouts.

Nips Pistons 100-96 On Tight Defense

By Ralph Bernstein
PHILADELPHIA, April 3 —The Philadelphia Warriors took a 2-1 edge in the final best-of-seven game National Basketball Assn. championship playoff tonight by defeating Fort Wayne 100-96 with the help of some fine defensive play in the third period when they held the Western Division champions to only 14 points.

The Warriors had four men in double figures, led by Paul Arizin with 27 points on 12 field goals and 3 for 4 free throws.

Neil Johnston contributed 20 points while Jack George looped 17 and rookie Tom Gola 16 for the winning Eastern Division champions.

Held to 4 Goals
But despite this well balanced attack, the Warriors actually won this third playoff game on defense. Trailing 51-48 at halftime, Philadelphia moved to a 73-65 lead at the end of the third period by holding the high scoring Pistons to a mere four field goals.

Fort Wayne took 21 shots in the period as against 23 for the Warriors who connected with 10.

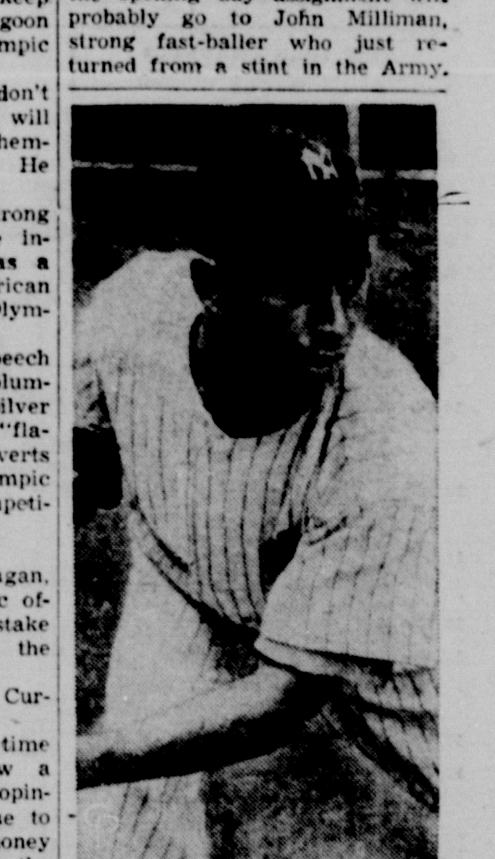

Record Turnout
A home record crowd of 11,698 jammed Convention Hall to watch the Warriors maintain what has become known in the pro playoffs as home court supremacy.

Wilkes To Open Season Tomorrow

WILKES-BARRE —The Wilkes College baseball team will open its season Thursday at Rider College despite the bad weather which has hampered the club in training.

Mel McNew, strong right-hander from Baltimore, has been named captain of this year's Colonels nine which stacks up as one of the strongest in Wilkes history.

While McNew is captain and was the ace of last year's mound staff, the opening day assignment will probably go to John Millman, strong fast-baller who just returned from a stint in the Army.

YANKEE MAINSTAY —Tommy Byrne, above, is expected to carry the brunt of the New York Yankee pitching load along with Whitey Ford this season. Byrne, a former fast-balling left-hander who now throws plenty of soft stuff, made the pitching comeback of the year last season with the Stengelmans.

Charges AAU Drawing Line Too Fine On Intention Rule

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—It does seem that the Amateur Athletic Union rule is drawing the line a little too fine when it bars athletes from amateur competition for even mentioning that they plan to perform for hire.

Barbara Breit Is Under Eye Of 'Little Mo'

By Bob Myers

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Attractive Barbara Breit may well prove a success in championship tennis to her teacher, ex-champ herself, Maureen Connolly.

Who says so? Little Mo says it, noting: "Yes, Barbara has a good chance. Her concentration is remarkable. She is simply marvelous, the best I've ever seen."

It will take work for the 18-year-old North Hollywood girl, but thus far her work and concentration are paying.

Last year she started by winning the Southern California junior title for the third straight year.

Then she won the National in a row.

Topped Mrs. Flettz
And at Forest Hills, Barbara went all the way to the semifinals, scoring her greatest triumph over Beverly Baker Flettz in the quarter finals.

Maureen volunteered to coach Barbara and they started work in October. But in January Miss Breit contacted a blood condition that tires a person, so the sessions were interrupted for almost two months.

Barbara is in good condition now, however, and several times a week she journeys to San Diego, Maureen's hometown, for lessons.

Mo Has Helped
"I know Maureen has helped me a lot," says Barbara. "Especially with my backhand and volley."

"I've idolized Mo all along. I was just starting to play when she was winning all those titles. She talked to me at the nationals last year and asked if she could teach me."

"I just jumped. I was so thrilled. Ever since I've tried to copy Mo's game. We're both back court players. I'm flabbergasted at what Mo thinks I can do. She sure has built up my confidence."

Started At 12
Barbara started playing tennis when she was 12, and she won the first tournament in which she played.

"I didn't know you weren't supposed to win your first tournament," she smiles.

Tennis in Europe is out for this year, she adds, but she will definitely play in the east this summer, mainly because she has her eyes on the nationals.

Bushkill Nine To Meet Today

THE BUSHKILL team, a member of the Pocono Mountain Baseball League, will hold a meeting today at Lantz Store, East Stroudsburg, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The session will be the last weekly get-together of the squad prior to starting practice sessions for the coming diamond campaign.

Nebel's Market To Drill Sunday

NEBEL'S MARKET, of Stroudsburg, an entry in the Monroe County Softball League will hold its first practice session at the Clearview School field Sunday, starting at 2 p.m.

The workout is slated to run from 2 to 4 p.m. All players are requested to report for the initial drill.

4 New Rules On Projects Of Fish Unit

HARRISBURG, April 3 (AP)—William Voigt Jr., executive director of the Fish Commission, will apply four new standards in the construction of its lakes for fishing, including a $250,000 ceiling on costs.

The standards also provide for a minimum surface area of 50 acres, a maximum depth of 30 feet and complete ownership of a land strip not less than 200 feet completely surrounding the flood level stage of the lake. The only exception will be if a highway or railroad right-of-way falls within the designated area.

Other Projects

Other projects which the commission will soon put into effect: A liberalization of regulations on smelt fishing in Lake Erie and tributary waters.

Discontinue placing walleye fry in Lake Erie.

Discontinue sealing commercial gill nets in Lake Erie.

Permit hunting and trapping in season on fish commission lakes.

A stream bank protection demonstration on Spring Creek, Centre County.

Cooper Memorial

The commission has also granted permission to a sportsmen's group for placement of a memorial to Bob Cooper on Virgin Run Lake, Fayette County, and will extend the May 30 opening of walleye on the north branch of the upper Susquehanna River from Hallstead to Windsor.

Career Boy Is Set For '56 East Debut

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Sonny Whitney's handsome black colt, Career Boy, who may turn out to be the East's main candidate for the Kentucky Derby, comes out of moth balls tomorrow for his 1956 racing debut against six rival 3-year-olds at Jamaica.

Career Boy hasn't raced since last Oct. 29 when he was beaten a nose by Prince John in the $282,370 Garden State Stakes, and had to settle for $56,474 instead of $157,918.

Tomorrow's race is a six furlongs sprint called the Olympia, named in honor of the 1919 Experimental Handicap winner. Career Boy must carry top weight of 126 pounds, and will be ridden by Eric Guerin.

Commission To Purchase New Site

PENNSYLVANIA FISH Commission has approved the purchase of a 350-acre site in Monroe and Wayne Counties, which contains North Jersey Lake. Purchase price was listed at $40,000.

The commission, at its second meeting of the year, took this action as it approved the acquisition of a total of eight sites destined to improve the lot of the State's anglers.

Location
The 250-acre North Jersey Lake lies between Gouldsboro and Coolbaugh Township. The area adjoins the Tobyhanna Military Reservation, now owned by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

Being an approved Dingell-Johnson project, the commission will be reimbursed out of the fund created by the Federal excise tax on fishing tackle with three-quarters of the purchase price.

In other action, the commission approved for trout stocking an area of two-mile stretch of suitable stream, free of no trespass signs. Previously the minimum, with allowance for a half-mile span between it and the posted water, was three miles.

Commission spokesmen said this will add many miles of trout-stocked streams to the State's total.

Best Methods For Seed Sowing; Dormant Spray Effective On Growths

SOWING SEED: If you're one of those gardeners who start their own plants, then you'll want to watch your schedule and sow such slow growers as Salvia, petunias, asters, marigolds and other fast-growing annuals. There's no trick to getting seed to germinate and grow into the surface, but before long—just as soon as the seeds start to break open, be sure to remove the glass. Water the seeds from below, by placing the boxes in a pan of water. Water will be absorbed automatically, and you get no splashing as you do when watering is done from the top.

DORMANT SPRAYS: Our friends are asking us what dormant sprays are. They are simply sprays applied in winter months when plants are dormant. The most ideal time to apply is in March or April, just before the buds begin to swell. Trees and ornamental plants and evergreens can stand stronger sprays while dormant, then during the active growing season. You need a strong spray now to kill off the hard-shelled scale-like insects that might be wintering on leaves. A good example of a tough pest that can be killed with a dormant spray.

There are 3 types of dormant sprays: Lime-sulfur, oils and the dinitro or D-N compounds. Lime sulfur comes as a dry mix or in liquid form. FREE: Send The Green Thumb, Naples, N. Y., a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of our bulletin on Dormant Sprays. It's a fine guide for knocking out bugs before they get a chance to ruin your trees, shrubs and evergreens. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for this important guide, friends.

Do not sow seed thickly, as this gives you spindly plants and makes them more susceptible to damping off. All seeds should be at least 1/8 inch apart. As for covering seed, the best general rule to follow is to cover the seed in pots or boxes so that they are just out of sight. Fine seed such as petunias should not be covered, but pressed into the soil lightly.

After the seeds have been sown, lay a piece of glass over the soil to prevent drying out at (250 degrees) for one-half hour. Or you can use the hot water treatment. Pour boiling hot water over the soil, until the soil reaches a temperature of 180 degrees F. Allow to dry for a day or two before the seed is sown.

Grace Kelly Departs For Wedding Today

By Cynthia Lowry
NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Grace Kelly, soon to be Princess of Monaco, sails tomorrow for that city principally with an entourage of 80. She will occupy the liner Constitution's bridal suite—alone.

Her accommodations, a combination living room and bedroom with a veranda, are the ship's most luxurious. They are on the high sun deck. Around her will be staterooms and suites of members of the bridal party, friends, business associates and, of course family.

On April 12, Rainer III, ruler of the little Riviera state which will be her home, will be reunited with his fiancée when he meets her off Monaco aboard his 125-foot yacht and carries her to port.

They have not seen each other since mid-March when the Prince after a lengthy Hollywood visit while Miss Kelly was making her final film before the wedding, flew to New York and then sailed back to Europe. Since then, they have talked frequently by telephone and Rainer sent Miss Kelly a Paris hat to wear to church Easter morning.

Stored on Ship
Miss Kelly's many trunks, unopened wedding presents and a crated Queen Anne desk have been stored on the ship. The size of her trousseau is indicated by a recent spur-of-the-moment purchase of a broadtail jacket with mink collar and a fox cape to augment her fur wardrobe, although considerable. One New York designer has been working day and night to complete an order for 20 hats.

Miss Kelly will hold a news conference at 10 a.m. on the ship, an event which is expected to be so heavily attended that all passengers, from those traveling third class to members of the wedding party have been limited to two visitors each—armed with passes. Such a limitation, infrequent since wartime sailings, was invoked by the American export lines "as a safety precaution," it was said.

Miss Kelly and Prince Rainer will be married on April 18 and 19, in civil and religious ceremonies. During the preceding week, Monaco will be the scene of many parties, balls and other festivities.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Fountains Moving Into Modern Homes

A DRINKING fountain would be a convenience in the powder room of the home and even in the bathroom.

So says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, pointing out that a bubbler saves time, prevents breakage of tumblers, and is the most hygienic method of drinking water.

The same type of faucet and bubbler combination that was originally developed for use in restaurant washrooms, in filling stations, schools and other public places where fountain drinking facilities are offered is suitable for use in home bathrooms and powder rooms, the bureau explains.

Children are especially appreciative of the time-saving convenience of drinking from a bubbler. Installed on the cold water line on the lavatory of a first floor wash-room or bathroom, the fitting enables young children to get a quick drink of water and be on their way.

Chromium-plated for easy cleaning and past appearance, the faucet and bubbler has a guard or canopy that prevents the drinker's mouth from touching the fountain opening. A single handle controls the water flow, and a self-closing knob regulates the drinking fountain.

Don't Hurry Finishing Job

MANY FAMILIES move into a new home which has one or two rooms areas unfinished. Often they tackle the finishing job too soon, only to find the budget running out. Then, in a flurry to complete the room, they settle for inferior materials and shoddy installation.

The best advice is: Don't tackle the job too soon. Wait until you've really planned it out and are ready to use quality materials. Patience and planning pay off.

You'll want a room to be proud of for a life-time and not one that's going to need remodeling in three to five years.

Takes Moisture From House Air

A POPULAR means of reducing the undesirable moisture content of the air within a home is to use a dehumidifier. Mechanical dehumidifiers consist of a refrigerated coil that operates at a temperature slightly above freezing. A fan draws the air of the room over these coils where the air is cooled. Since the cooled air cannot hold as much moisture as it could when it was warm, the excess moisture is deposited on the coils. From there it drips into a covered container.

Rooms Can Appear Smaller

IF THE LIVING room is too long, try placing the sofa or day-bed with its ends to the side wall. This will help to divide the room into two groupings, and foreshorten its look.

Bright colors in upholstery fabrics and draperies—used at the ends of a long room also help to reduce its apparent length.

Be Careful of Waxes

NEVER USE liquid floor waxes containing oil on asphalt or rubber floor tiles. Oil is destructive to both these materials. And if any oil or grease is spilled on these floorings, remove it as speedily as possible.

'Wall Of Wood' Gives New Character, Variety To Room

FOR VARIETY in HOME decoration, a "wall of wood" gives special character to a room.

Because it accepts almost any kind of finish, pine paneling may be used with papered or painted walls to achieve any desired effect.

Two opposite walls may be papered in one design, the outside wall may be all glass, and the inside wall may be paneled.

One Design
Or, two opposite walls may be paneled in one design, a third wall may carry an entirely different paper, and the fourth wall may be paneled.

The finish given the paneling will help dictate the mood of the room. Knotty western pine, finished naturally or stained, will be on the informal side, clear paneling may be painted or stained to achieve various degrees of formality. For an unusual effect, knotty pine may be painted and the knots allowed to "bleed."

THERE ARE, in the main, three types of roofs on which special coatings are used for preservation and beautification.

For wood shingle roofs, there are special preservative stains. New shingles should be dipped in such a preservative before they are attached.

Flat
For flat roofs, built up of layers of felt and asphalt, protective fibrous or unfibrous roof coatings—or roof cements—or asphalt emulsion should be used.

Tin roofs are safeguarded with the types of roof paints formulated for metal surfaces. Special metal primers must first be applied.

Read Directions

BEFORE APPLYING paint, read the manufacturer's directions. These will vary with different products. In all cases, however, the paint must be thoroughly stirred so that any pigment which has settled at the bottom of the container will be completely mixed with the liquid. For convenience, paint from a container which is only about half full.

Window Washing Now Easier Task

UNTIL SOMEONE invents a window pane that stays clean without washing, window manufacturers are concentrating their attention on making their products easier for the housewife to clean.

Many wood windows now are made with sash that slip easily out of the frame so they can be washed easily and conveniently inside the room. The latest is the sliding window, the kind which slides from side to side instead of up and down. The sash lifts right out with a slight pressure at the top.

The sliding units are made of ponderosa pine, in various shapes and sizes to meet the needs of different rooms.

For example, horizontal rows of sliding windows are installed high in the walls of bedrooms and small living rooms to allow more wall space for replacement of furniture. Groups of tall sliding units, reaching almost from floor to ceiling, are popular for enclosed porches and living rooms when a good view and plenty of light are desired.

An in-between size, square or nearly square in shape, is often installed singly or in groups above kitchen sinks. Windows over a sink are usually at arm's length from the housewife, but the side-ward sliding action makes them easy to open and close. The removable-sash feature makes it possible to wash them without going outside and perching on a ladder.

Solution For Mildew Surfaces

MILDEW USUALLY develops where there is dampness and warmth. Mildew spores and threads are somewhat hard to possess. Before mildewed surfaces are repainted, they should be washed with mildly alkaline cleaning solutions and flushed with clean water.

A hard film will resist dirt collection and mildew growth. Materials known as mildewicides, which prevent the growth of mildew, may be added to paint.

Wire Screening Helps
INSECT WIRE screening placed over basement windows and airways will help to keep the airway from filling up with leaves and debris.

Wood Shows Qualities

WOOD possesses some unique qualities that make it ideal for long-time service as house siding, according to the Forest Products Laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Stability
One of these is its great stability in the fact of wide fluctuations in temperature and weather.

Temperature changes that affect other materials have no perceptible effect on the size of wood, and properly installed wood siding also can withstand any range of moisture change from high humidity to prolonged drought.

The Washington Monument is 555 feet high.
